Japan delegation 2025 student prize award

Japan delegation 2025

With a focus on projects for renewable energy and transportation infrastructure, the delegation will offer delegates the opportunity to explore and experience leading engineering projects and initiatives. Participants will have the opportunity to immerse themselves in the culture, history, and engineering achievements. By being a participant, you will explore with us the technological innovations and engineering practices through a variety of site, company and university visits. As a learned society, ICE share with our members learning and professional development opportunities, both local and international.

Student prize award

ICE HKA G&S encourages students in higher education to explore the civil engineering industry, both within and outside Hong Kong. The student prize aims to promote ICE HKA G&S Japan delegation 2025 among students and subsidises part of the delegation costs for the prize winners. Visit ICE website (ice.org.uk/hongkong) for details.

Eligibility

ICE Student Member with valid student card of a higher education institution
(Only eligible to full time students)

A maximum of two awardees will be selected. Each will receive HKD3,000 financial sponsorship to Japan delegation 2025 and an award certificate
